STAT FROM: [REDACTED]
Information Handling Systems Architect, DDA

SUBJECT: Support in Establishing the Office of the Information Handling Systems Architect

1. As you start out on your new assignment, I thought you might like to know how much some of your work was appreciated on your old. I am referring to the support your office and you personally provided in helping me establish the Office of the Information Handling Systems Architect.

2. Coming on board a new organization and starting a new program, such as the IHSA, is never easy. Without the genuinely committed day-to-day support from an office like yours it can be very difficult indeed. The enthusiastic and selfless support of your Management Systems gang has made it a far smoother start-up than I anticipated. Whatever early success this office has, will in some measure be to the credit of your staff.

3. I think the biggest factor in that support, however, was your personal assistance. The organizational and programmatic background you provided were invaluable in my Agency familiarization and initial focusing of the IHSA program. I want to express my gratitude that you and your office provided that help, often at some personal sacrifice as you crunched to respond to the normal responsibilities of your office. It was a mark of your high standards of professionalism and clearly discernable dedication to the performance of the Agency that you managed to do both so well.
